Evidence Paper on Local Green Space

1.0 Introduction

- 1.1 The Government's National Planning Policy Framework (NPPF) introduced a new designation, called Local Green Space (LGS), when it was published in March 2012. This revised evidence paper sets out how LGS will be interpreted and applied within North Somerset in the context of the emerging Site Allocations Plan (SAP). An initial evidence paper, reflecting the council's first thoughts on the new designation, and our understanding at the time, was produced alongside production of the Consultation Draft version of the Sites and Policies Plan in February 2013. This revised paper is an updated document, taking account, for example, of more recent government guidance and our increased understanding of the designation.
- 1.2 The principles set out in this revised evidence paper have been used to reassess sites that were proposed as LGS in the Consultation Draft of February 2013, and to assess sites we have considered for LGS designation since then. The results are set out in tables at the end of this document, and support the LGS proposals proposed in the Site Allocations Plan published for public consultation in February 2016.
- 1.3 Guidance on LGS is set out in the NPPF at paragraphs 76-79:

76. "Local communities through local and neighbourhood plans should be able to identify for special protection green areas of particular importance to them. By designating land as Local Green Space local communities will be able to rule out new development other than in very special circumstances. Identifying land as Local Green Space should therefore be consistent with the local planning of sustainable development and complement investment in sufficient homes, jobs and other essential services. Local Green Spaces should only be designated when a plan is prepared or reviewed, and be capable of enduring beyond the end of the plan period".

77. "The Local Green Space designation will not be appropriate for most green areas or open space. The designation should only be used:

- where the green space is in reasonably close proximity to the community it serves

- where the green area is demonstrably special to a local community and holds a particular local significance, for example because of its beauty, historic importance, recreational value (including as a playing field), tranquillity or richness of its wildlife; and
- where the green area concerned is local in character and is not an extensive tract of land”

78. “Local policy for managing development within a Local Green Space should be consistent with policy for Green Belts”.

1.4 More recently, in March 2014, the government published national Planning Practice Guidance (PPG), which includes a section on the Local Green Space designation. The guidance (paragraph 013 of the LGS section) states that green areas to be identified as LGS will need to meet the criteria in NPPF paragraph 77 above, but “whether to designate is a matter for local discretion”. The council regards this as support for its ability to decide whether a site is designated as LGS, and to set out the guidance in this revised evidence paper.

1.5 The PPG (paragraph 007 of the LGS section) also states that “designating any Local Green Space will need to be consistent with local planning for sustainable development in the area. In particular, plans must identify sufficient land in suitable locations to meet identified development needs, and the Local Green Space designation should not be used in a way that undermines this aim of plan making”.

2.0 Interpretation of Local Green Space within North Somerset

2.1 The NPPF and PPG are national guidance and since the language is general, further clarification is required to guide their interpretation regarding LGS for the North Somerset context. This evidence paper sets out that interpretation.

2.2 The PPG paragraph 020 states that “designating a green area as LGS would give it protection consistent with that in respect of Green Belt”, and paragraph 78 of the NPPF states that “local policy for managing development within a Local Green Space should be consistent with policy for Green Belts”. The council’s policy SA7 on LGS in the Site Allocation Plan reflects this, in stating that development affecting a LGS will not be permitted “except in very special circumstances” (see paragraph 4.1 below). This wording also reflects paragraph 76 of the NPPF.

2.3 A particular local significance

As indicated above, the LGS designation will not be appropriate for most green spaces. Sites should have a particular local significance in terms of the criteria identified in NPPF paragraph 77. The council's interpretation of the criteria is set out below.

- 2.4 Beauty: This relates to the visual attractiveness of the site, and its contribution to townscape, landscape, and /or character of the settlement, which would normally be expected to be significant.
- 2.5 Historical significance: The site or elements of the site may have a historical significance. Perhaps they include part of a scheduled monument, or a park or garden of historic interest. The council has considered sites against its Historic Environment Record (HER) to help in this assessment.
- 2.6 It does not necessarily follow, however, that just because the HER shows a green space to include an archaeological site (or sites) that it will be considered to warrant LGS designation. The criterion is more likely to be met where the archaeological site affects most of the green space, (as opposed to comprising isolated buried finds within part or parts of it) or where the archaeological site relates to a significant feature which is visible above ground.
- 2.7 Recreational value: Green space may be considered to warrant LGS designation on grounds of recreational value, particularly where it supports a variety of activities and is therefore of greater value to the community.
- 2.8 The council is mindful of the following phrase in NPPF paragraph 77: "where the green area is demonstrably special to a local community and holds a particular local significance, for example because of its...recreational value (including as a playing field)." However it is considered that here the guidance is simply giving an example of how community green space can be used, perhaps for informal ball games by youngsters, and is not advocating designation of formal playing fields as LGS. The council does not consider that formal playing fields, including recreation grounds used for marked sports pitches, will normally be appropriate for LGS designation. Such facilities are often associated with sports clubs, sports centres, schools or colleges, with restricted access to the general public in the local community. Also they are already covered by other protective policies (see paragraph 2.15 below).
- 2.9 LGS designation based on the recreation criterion is more likely to be appropriate where the area is informal open space within a settlement, and its recreational value is enhanced by being of appropriate size and shape to be used as an informal playing field, as described above. Such areas may also exceptionally be designated as LGS in locations outside but within 400m of settlements, where there is strong evidence that they are used for that purpose, or they are part of a wider area appropriate for LGS designation. (See paragraph 3.5 below, regarding the 400m distance.)

- 2.10 Tennis courts or bowling greens will not normally be appropriate for LGS designation, particularly where they stand alone. However, exceptionally, where they are part of a wider site suitable for LGS designation, such as a public park, they may be considered appropriate for inclusion.
- 2.11 Informal public open space (used for informal recreation) may be eligible for LGS designation. However the existence of a right of way across farmland would not in itself be likely to merit designation on grounds of recreational value.
- 2.12 Allotments will not normally be appropriate for LGS designation, a designation which “should only be designated when a plan is prepared or reviewed, and be capable of enduring beyond the end of the plan period”, (paragraph 76 of the NPPF). The council considers that the demand for allotments varies through time and that allotments are already more appropriately covered by policy DM68 of the Sites and Policies Plan Part 1 Development Management Policies on sporting, cultural and community facilities. (See paragraph 2.15 below). That policy provides a significant level of protection but allows for development of such community facilities in certain circumstances, including where the site is “genuinely redundant/surplus to requirements for cultural/community uses and does not comprise open space or undeveloped land with recreational or amenity value”.
- 2.13 Cemeteries, gardens of rest and church yards will not normally be appropriate for LGS designation, but exceptionally, they may be designated where there is particularly strong justification. Again this might be where they are part of a wider area with particularly strong characteristics appropriate for a LGS.
- 2.14 Golf courses will not normally be appropriate for LGS designation, but exceptionally they may be designated where they are within the defined limits of a settlement and there is particularly strong justification, or they are part of a wider area with particularly strong characteristics appropriate for LGS.
- 2.15 However formal playing fields, allotments, tennis courts, bowling greens and cemeteries are already covered by other policies, such as policy CF/4 of the North Somerset Replacement Local Plan (NSRLP) on cultural or community facilities (and the similar policy DM68 of the Sites and Policies Plan Part 1 Development Management Policies, Publication Version, February 2015.) These policies provide a significant degree of protection. The plans can be seen at: NSRLP and Sites and Policies Plan Part 1 Publication Version

- 2.16 Tranquillity: Green spaces may also provide value to the local community in terms of providing an oasis of calm, or space for quiet reflection, perhaps within a town. However the council would not normally designate LGS on the basis of tranquillity alone and would normally expect a site to also be important in terms of one or more of the other criteria.
- 2.17 Richness of wildlife: A LGS may be of particular local significance because of its importance for wildlife, which will normally require appropriate evidence such as a designation, like a Wildlife Site.
- 2.18 Local in character and not an extensive tract of land:
The NPPF, paragraph 77, requires that the “green area concerned is not an extensive tract of land”, and the PPG, paragraph 015 adds that “consequently, blanket designation of open countryside adjacent to settlements will not be appropriate”.
- 2.19 While the PPG (paragraph 016) states that there is no lower size limit for a Local Green Space provided that land can meet the criteria in paragraph 77 of the NPPF, it also states (in paragraph 015) that “a degree of judgement will inevitably be needed” regarding how big a LGS can be. The council considers that the LGS designation would be undervalued, and be potentially unmanageable, if numerous sites of small size were designated, like small roadside verges for example. As they are green spaces of particular local significance the council would normally expect LGS to be at least 0.2 ha in size, but this does not rule out smaller spaces where they are clearly shown to have particularly strong justification, normally requiring them to be out of the ordinary.
- 2.20 It may well be that sites which are smaller than 0.2 ha which are not considered to merit LGS designation, may nevertheless be afforded some protection under other policies. For example Policy SA8 of the Site Allocation Plan on undesignated green space might apply; (see paragraph 4.2 below). However this would only be determined at the time of determining planning applications. In some cases Policy DM68 of the Sites and Policies Plan Part 1 Development Management Policies Publication Version on protection of community facilities might be considered to apply; (see paragraph 2.15 above).
- 2.21 The council considers that LGS areas would normally have clearly defined edges.

3.0 Definitions and other points of interpretation

3.1 Green areas:

LGS applies to 'green areas'. These areas must therefore be predominantly comprised of grass, trees, shrubs, and other vegetation. Solely or mainly hard surfaced areas will not normally be appropriate. However, LGS areas can include some hard surfaced elements and structures, but the overall character and visual impression would normally be of a green vegetated site. Lakes, ponds and water features may be found within LGS sites.

3.2 Private land and public access

The PPG (paragraphs 019 and 017) states that LGS does not need to be in public ownership and that land "could be considered for designation even if there is no public access (eg. green areas which are valued because of their wildlife, historic significance and/or beauty)". However the council considers that designation of land with public access will generally be most appropriate, although private land may be included where the land is considered to be particularly worthy of designation. School and college playing fields and grounds, and residential gardens are normally excluded.

3.3 Small areas and landscaping

LGS would not normally include highway and cycleway verges and small areas of land, open space or landscaping left over from development.

3.4 Agricultural land and orchards

LGS would not normally include agricultural land or orchards. Only exceptionally would this be included, in particular special circumstances where there is particularly strong justification, it clearly meets the criteria, and there is strong evidence that it holds a particular local significance and that the local community considers it to be demonstrably special, which must be satisfactorily explained. General countryside which does not meet this exception will not be appropriate for designation.

3.5 Reasonably close proximity to the community it serves:

The PPG (paragraph 014) states that “the proximity of a LGS to the community it serves will depend on local circumstances, including why the green area is seen as special, but it must be reasonably close. For example, if public access is a key factor, then the site would normally be within easy walking distance of the community served”. The council considers that LGS should normally be within 400m of the defined limits of a settlement, or the main built up part of a settlement without defined limits. The 400m distance is appropriate since that is a figure which is considered to be reasonable walking distance. (The supporting text of policy DM27 of the emerging Sites and Policies Plan Part 1 Development Management Policies indicates that for locating development within a “reasonable distance” from a bus stop this means a maximum of 400m).

3.6 Demonstrably special to a local community:

Evidence of how and why the site is demonstrably special to a local community, and holds a particular local significance, will be needed. The council will normally expect this to relate to the criteria in the NPPF: beauty, historic importance, recreational value, tranquillity, richness of wildlife. Evidence of town or parish council support for designation of the site will normally be expected.

3.7 Requests for LGS designation should reflect a desire to protect demonstrably special, specific green spaces, in recognition of their particular local significance having regard to the criteria, rather than a desire to resist development pressure generally in the locality. The LGS designation should not be seen or used, for example, as a means to try to prevent development on the edge of a village. As indicated above, the PPG, paragraph 007 states that “designating any Local Green Space will need to be consistent with local planning for sustainable development in the area. In particular plans must identify sufficient land in suitable locations to meet identified development needs, and the LGS designation should not be used in a way that undermines this aim of plan making”. Paragraph 015 states that “blanket designation of open countryside adjacent to settlements will not be appropriate. In particular designation should not be proposed as a back door way to try to achieve what would amount to a new area of Green Belt by another name”.

3.8 Land with planning permission for development and allocations in Local Plans

Land with planning permission for development will not normally be appropriate for LGS designation. That is consistent with paragraph 008 of the PPG. Similarly, the same will apply to land allocated for development in emerging or adopted local plans. Again that is consistent with the PPG (paragraph 007).

4.0 Proposed policies on green space in the Site Allocations Plan

4.1 The following policy on LGS is proposed in the Plan:

Policy SA7: Local Green Space

Planning permission will not be granted except in very special circumstances for development which adversely affects a designated Local Green Space as shown on the Proposals Map and set out in Schedule 4, particularly regarding the characteristics underpinning its designation, such as beauty, historic importance, recreational value, tranquillity or richness of wildlife.

4.2 In addition, as the LGS designation is not appropriate for most green areas or open spaces, the plan includes a policy (SA8) relating to undesignated areas of green space:

Policy SA8: Undesignated Green Space

Within settlements planning permission will not be granted for development that unacceptably affects the value of undesignated green space making a worthwhile contribution to the townscape, character, setting and visual attractiveness of the settlement.

Note on Amenity Areas

5.1 The adopted North Somerset Replacement Local Plan (NSRLP) includes a policy ECH/1 which protects Amenity Areas, stating that “planning permission will not be granted for development that unacceptably harms the amenity of open space of public value defined as an Amenity Area on the Proposals Map”.

5.2 In preparing the Consultation Draft Sites and Policies Plan, March 2013, the sites which the council considered for LGS designation were mostly Amenity Areas and some sites suggested by town and parish councils.

5.3 In view of the new LGS designation, it is envisaged that the Amenity Areas designation would eventually be deleted when the Sites and Policies Plan is adopted and effectively replaces the NSRLP. However many of the existing Amenity Areas in the NSRLP are likely to be re-designated as LGS, where they meet the criteria.

5.4 While some existing Amenity Areas in the NSRLP may not be proposed for re-designation as LGS, (and are thus likely to be eventually deleted), they might be eligible for protection under policy SA8 on undesignated green space. However this can only be determined at the planning application stage, when it would be considered whether the site makes the “worthwhile contribution” referred to in the policy, and if so, whether the policy would be met.

6.0 Assessment of sites considered for LGS designation

6.1 The Consultation Draft Sites and Policies Plan, February 2013, identified sites which at the time, we considered appropriate for LGS designation, having regard to our initial evidence paper.

6.2 The plan was advertised for public consultation for six weeks between 28 February and 19 April 2013 inclusive. A number of responses concerning LGS were received, mainly suggesting further sites for consideration for LGS, largely from town and parish councils, but also some individuals.

6.3 Since then, in the light of the March 2014 PPG and more knowledge gained on LGS, the council has produced this revised evidence paper. That has been used to reassess the sites previously considered, and to assess the further suggested sites, for LGS designation.

6.4 In tables 1 and 2 below the council shows the result of our reassessment of sites which were proposed as LGS in the 2013 plan, and of our assessment of further sites considered, respectively.

Table 1 showing reassessment of LGS sites which were identified in the Sites and Policies Plan Consultation Draft 2013

Note: These sites have been reassessed by the council, as indicated above. As a result some sites are no longer being proposed for LGS designation in the Site Allocations Plan. These cases are highlighted in bold italics text, and indication is also given in the column to its left.

In some cases it is considered that boundary changes are needed to the sites (from the LGS boundaries that were shown on the Emerging Proposals Map relating to the Sites and Policies Plan Consultation Draft 2013). These are indicated in underlined italics text, and indication is also given in the penultimate column.

(Designation criteria considered to be met are indicated by an x. "No records on HER" means no reference is shown on the councils electronic Historic Environment Record map to a listed building, registered or unregistered historic park or garden, scheduled monument or archaeological site on the site.)

Table 2: Assessment of further sites which have been suggested for LGS designation, largely in response to the SAPP Consultation Draft 2013

Many of the sites suggested are considered appropriate for designation, but some are not. The latter have bold black italics justification text.

In some cases the sites being suggested were already proposed as LGS in the SAPP Consultation Draft, February 2013. This is noted in the justification column.

In a few cases (underlined italics) the council has found that it overlooked certain areas identified as Amenity Areas in the North Somerset Replacement Local Plan (NSRLP), so did not assess them for possible designation as LGS in preparing the SAPP Consultation Draft 2013. These sites have now been assessed for LGS designation.

(Designation criteria considered to be met are indicated by an x. "No records on HER" means no reference is shown on the councils electronic Historic Environment Record map to a listed building, registered or unregistered historic park or garden, scheduled monument or archaeological site on the site.
